DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election of Group I in the reply filed on 11/19/2008 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).
2. Claims 28-29 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 11/19/2008.
- 3.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
5. Claims 16-17, 25-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 25 and 27 recite "a method as claimed in claim 14", but claim 14 is an article claim drawn to an extermination device. Hence the scope of the claim is unclear.
6. Claim 16 recites the limitation "the second one" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

8. Claims 1-2, 4, 7, 10, 18, 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Popp (US 2247066).

9. The patent to Popp shows an extermination device. In reference to claims 1 and 19, Popp shows an exterminating device having a holder 10 and a trigger mechanism 19, 24. The holder is configured to hold an expanded resilient ring 11-12, and the device is configured to release the ring free of the extermination device such that it contracts around a pest when the trigger mechanism is actuated by the pest as disclosed in page 1, column 2, line 38 to page 2, column 1, line 15. In reference to claim 7, Popp shows a firing member 17. In reference to claim 10, Popp discloses that the resilient ring is made from piano wire and a spring, which can be considered as a composite material.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

10. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

11. Claims 9, 12, 13, 14, 16-17, 25-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Popp (US 2247066).

12. The patent to Popp shows a pest extermination device as discussed above. In reference to claim 9, Popp discloses that the resilient ring is made from piano wire, but it would have been obvious to employ a natural or synthetic rubber since the selection of a known material is based on its suitability for the intended use. See In re Leshin et al., 125 USPQ 416. In reference to claims 12-13, Popp does not disclose the size of the opening of the holder as being in the range of 25-40mm or 60-100 mm, but routine experimentation would be used to determine the optimum size of the opening depending on the size of the target species. In reference to claim 14, Popp shows one resilient ring, but it would have been obvious to employ more than one ring for multiplied effect. See In re Harza, 124 USPQ 378.

13. Claims 5 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Popp as applied to claims 1 and 14 above, and further in view of Spillett (US 4735011).

14. The patents to Popp and Spillett show animal traps. Popp has been discussed above and does not show bait being used with the trap. Spillett shows an animal trap having bait on screen 62 such that the bait is located between the trigger 40 is between the bait (on screen 62) and the first end of the trap which is taken to be the bottom end. In reference to claims 5 and 23, it would have been obvious to provide the trap of Popp with bait having the trigger between the bait and a first end of the device as shown by Spillett for the purpose of attracting a target species to the extermination device.

Conclusion

15. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patents to Lee, Miyasaki, Schwartz, Thompson, and Reuthe show other exterminating animal traps that employ a loop or a noose or a constricting jaw that is spring loaded.
